

MARSHAL FOCH LAID TO REST AMID SUPERB SCENE OF SOLEMN SILENCE

Paris, March 28.—The funeral service at the cathedral of Notre Dame for Marshal Foch today summoned all the solemn splendor both of church and state.

Five thousand persons, among them nearly all the great men of France, the heir to the British throne and representatives of most of the rulers of other nations, and their peoples, assembled under the great Gothic arches of the cathedral where the funeral mass was held.

Superb Scene
The entire assemblage was in uniform and full evening dress, the flickering candles and dim light which came through the great stained glass windows revealing the superb scene in an odd and awesome aspect. Because it was Holy Week, only low mass could be said. The heavy oak coffin which lay draped with the tricolor of France reposed upon a throne in the centre of the choir.

Among the notables was the Prince of Wales, in the red, gold and blue of a colonel of the Welsh Guards. Prince Charles of Belgium wore the simple khaki of a Belgian army officer. There were field marshals and generals of the allied armies which Foch commanded, bishops and missionaries in rich vestments, former soldiers and many men mutilated in the war.

Raymond Poincaré, premier of France and its wartime president, pronounced the funeral oration over the body of Marshal Foch as it reposed in front of the Invalides prior to interment today.

IF ARE DEAD IN COLLISION C. N. R. TRAINS — 13 PAS- SENGERS AMONG THE VIC- TIMS OF CRASH OF TORONTO- WINNIPEG FLIERS

Toronto, March 20.—Seventeen persons are dead, including 13 passengers and five seriously injured as the result of the head-on collision on the Canadian National Railway at Drocourt, near Parry Sound, Ont., according to an official statement issued from the office of the general manager of central division here this afternoon.

Passengers on the sleeping cars of number three which was bound west for Winnipeg, returned to Parry Sound this afternoon and gave more definite word of the magnitude of the disaster. It appears that the collision car, next to the baggage cars of this train, caught fire after the wreck and several of the passengers were unable to escape. The surviving passengers tell graphic stories of heroic attempts to escape cremation in the burning wreck. The passenger list of the collision car is not yet available. It is not definitely known how many people were aboard.

May Be More Deaths
Parry Sound, March 20.—While official estimates place the number of dead in the wreck on the C. N. R. at Drocourt at 17, it is thought possible that still further bodies may be found under the burning collision car. Identification will be extremely difficult in many cases as some of the bodies are reported to be burned almost beyond recognition.

guard cutters Dexter and Walcott, plowed up the swollen Mississippi to New Orleans today bringing in from the wreck of the British schooner or Inanone, including one dead member, the victim of a gun battle at sea off the Louisiana coast after a 24 hour fight.

The schooner was shelled by the Dexter yesterday when her unidentified master refused to submit to search on being overhauled by the coastguard boat, and was sent to the bottom with a suspected cargo of contraband. The elusive craft which contrabandsmen say carried on successful smuggling operations for three years off the coast of New England, was sunk near "Sixty Deep," off Marsh Island.

BROWNLEE, MCGILLIVRAY TO RESIGN AS PARTIES FUSE, EDMONTON HEARS

Edmonton, March 22.—Coalition between the Conservative and Farmer parties in Alberta is a strong probability, which may be consummated within the next three months, so the Journal is informed on what is believed to be high authority. This is now being talked of in political circles and it is believed that the time is approaching when both these parties, will have a working agreement.

The resignation of A. A. McGillivray, K. C., as provincial Conservative leader, retirement of Premier Brownlee as premier, and his place being taken by Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works, with a provincial general election next year, are all on the cards, so the Journal is informed. On the eve of the legislature being prorogued, these reports were current and they carry with them a wealth of confirmation which shows there are important moves under way.

McGillivray Is All in the Dark
Calgary, March 22.—"I know nothing of any such arrangements as outlined in your press dispatch," A. A. McGillivray, K. C., Conservative leader, Calgary, stated to the Herald Friday noon when informed of the dispatch from Edmonton. "It seems to me that if the Conservative party in the provincial house contemplated going over to the government side, the head of the Conservative party in this province would know something of it. I know nothing at all about it."

Inanone by United States coast-guard cutters.

The affair will be investigated by the British ambassador at Washington and a report made to London. London, March 25.—The sinking of the British schooner "Im Alone" by a United States coast guard cutter excited little editorial comment in London newspapers today, though given a big place in the news columns. One diplomatic writer pointed out that if the firing occurred within 12 miles of the United States coast, Britain would hardly be in a position to protest and could not do so if the schooner was warned to leave-to and refused, and if the United States cutter made every effort to avoid killing of the crew.

The same writer contended the placing of the crew in irons was also justified if liquor smuggling could be proved legally against them.

LEGISLATURE IS PROROGUED AT EDMONTON
Edmonton, March 21.—At 5.45 p. m. Wednesday, the third session of the sixth legislature of the province of Alberta came to a close.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor William Egbert, in name of his majesty consented to legislation passed during the session, accepted and thanked the house for supply voted, and declared the house prorogued. Gaily colorful confetti whirled across the house in streamers, a veritable snow storm of bills and order papers rained upon the members, several members uttered whoops of joy, a few remained behind in the confusion to clear out their desks, and the session was over.

Large Acreage Ready for Crop
Acreage ready for 1929 crop in Alberta amounts to 3,652,599 acres according to the report issued during the past week by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This includes 2,732,599 acres of summer fallow and 850,000 acres of new breaking. As compared with the previous year, these figures show an increase of 100,000 acres of new breaking and a decrease of 13,274 acres of summer fallow. It is estimated, however, that the amount of fall plowing done in 1928 considerably exceeds that of 1927 so that on the whole, Al-

Legislature Prorogues After Busy Session

After sitting for approximately seven weeks, the Third Session of the Sixth Legislature of Alberta was prorogued on Wednesday, March 20th. Of the 85 bills before the House, 75 were passed as compared with 71 last year. Public bills numbered 67 and private bills 8. General satisfaction with the results of the session and the amount of important legislation passed is expressed by members of the government.

The usual synopsis of important acts passed during the session is being prepared by John D. Hunt, Clerk of the Executive Council, and will be ready for distribution within a short time.

Suffield Line of C. P. R. To Be Completed

Completion of the Suffield branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway connecting Arrowwood and Blackie will be commenced during the present year, it is announced by D. C. Coleman, Western Vice President of the C. P. R. It is planned to start grading during the summer and it is expected that the line will be ready for operation during the spring or summer of 1930. Completion of this road will bring a large section of important grain growing territory within a much closer hauling distance of Calgary and the Pacific Coast.

Undertake Aerial Survey of North

The inauguration of a five year program of air-mapping to cover the greater portion of Northern Alberta along the line of the recommendations made by the Provincial Government is announced by Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior. Special plans will be utilized for carrying on this work as a result of which it is hoped to secure accurate topographical data concerning many of the little known districts in the north of the province. This information will prove invaluable in connection with the greatly increased activity in settlement and mineral developments in the north. A number of ground survey parties will also be employed to work in conjunction with the aerial mapping force.

Will Commence Season's Program of Road Construction
A start will be made on Alberta's 1929-1930 program of highway construction as soon as weather conditions permit, announces Hon. O. L. McPherson, Minister of Public Works. The work to be undertaken will involve an expenditure of some $1,500,000. The travelling of the road between Macleod and Pincher Creek has already been started and a number of other projects will be commenced within a short time.

Heads Ninth Army
August, 1914, found Foch in command of the Twentieth Corps before Nancy, but he was speedily placed at the head of the newly formed IX Army, to fill the gap in the line caused by the diverging directions of retreat of the IV and V armies. This army he commanded in the Battle of the Marne, being opposed to the German III. Army and part of the II. After several crises he finally repulsed the attack and initiated a counter-stroke which proved the pivot of the French victory. It was from this battle that there arose the story of his message to Marshal Joffre: "My right is crushed. My left is in retreat. I am attacking with my centre."

Temporary Eclipse
In 1916 Foch's group of armies supplied the French element in the battle of the Somme. Towards the close of that battle his reputation underwent a temporary eclipse, motivated no doubt largely by the disappointment felt both in England and in France as to the results; but also and perhaps more by somewhat obscure doubt and intrigues within the French staff. At that time the movement for Joffre's supersession had come to a head, and it is said, his adherents within the headquarters sought to maintain him in power by suggesting that Foch, the most likely candidate for the place, was broken down in health. Though this did not prevent the removal of Joffre, it excluded Foch from the succession. Gen. Nivelle was appointed commander-in-chief and a certain control by him over the British forces was agreed to by Mr. Lloyd George's government, then newly in office. Foch was relieved of his command and sent first to the Swiss frontier to report on the possibilities of attack and defense in that quarter, and then to Italy to negotiate with the Comandante Supremo as to aid from France in case of a disaster to Cadorna's forces. But on May 15, 1917, after the tragic failure of Nivelle's offensive and the supersession of that general by Pétain, M. Painlevé called Foch to Paris as chief of the

Will Erect Cottages for Settlers

Under an arrangement recently completed between the Colonization Department of the Canadian National Railways, the White Star Line and the British Government, it is planned to construct some ten cottages in Alberta this season for the accommodation of British immigrant families who will come forward as farm labor. Each cottage will be leased at a nominal rental to the family for a period not exceeding two years during which time it is expected the settlers will have become established on farms of their own.

Increased Acreage for Beet Crop

A considerable increase is reported in the amount of land which will be planted to sugar beets this spring in the southern part of the province. Leading dumps will be built this year at Iron Springs and Picture Butte in order to facilitate the handling of the increased crop of beets expected from those districts. Two carloads of beet seed are now in storage in the company's warehouse, awaiting delivery to growers.

New Stations on C. P. R. Lines

New station buildings will be erected during the coming season at Hilda, Mazenod, Milk River and Bentley, according to the building program of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Cooling plants will also be erected at Irricana and Consul.

Irrigation Crops Valuable

In 1928 The total value of agricultural production on the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation Project in 1928 is placed at $1,545, 253. While the value of livestock and dairy produce on hand and sold during the year increased from $887,248 in 1927 to $1,175,366 in 1928, the value of field crop production shows a considerable decrease as the result of severe hail damage which occurred during the season.

MARSHAL FOCH, FAMOUS GREAT WAR GENERAL, DEAD AFTER LINGERING ILLNESS

Paris, March 20.—Marshal Foch, famous general, who led the allied armies to victory in the Great War, died at his home today after a lengthy illness. He was 77 years old. He died at 5:50 p. m.

Although it had been long apparent that the great general was fighting his last campaign, his warrior heart would not give in and day after day he fought off the inevitable end with grim courage, a combination of heart trouble, kidney disease and a lung infection, were too great for his age.

Throughout it all, from January 14, when he first became seriously ill until the end, he showed courage and unflinching good humor. The end came just as his doctors reported at his house this evening. He had been conscious the entire afternoon and had been found in a somewhat improved condition at 10 o'clock this morning, when the first visit of the day was made.

Although the marshal had many good days during his illness, he was not permitted to see visitors. Among those who called to pay their respects were General J. J. Pershing, commander in chief of the United States expeditionary force;

General Weigand, the marshal's chief of staff during the Great War; Queen Marie of Rumania, and many of the most distinguished men in France. At one time names in the visitors' book but none were permitted to see him.

Heart Gave Out

On February 26, the Associated Press was authoritatively informed that the marshal's death seemed only a matter of days—a week, perhaps, or ten days. But, the marshal with indomitable will held off death even longer than his doctors thought possible. It was the sudden failing of his heart after several days of improvement that brought death to the great soldier.

The foremost fighter of the Great War, displayed in illness the same grit that he had displayed as the commander in chief, who led the Allied armies to victory in the Great War.

Brain Was Clear

It was a series of ups and downs throughout the illness. After the 27th by general consent Foch was nominated to co-ordinate the operations of the British and French in France. On April 14 the title and authority of commander-in-chief was granted to him by the two governments concerned, and on April 15, 17, and May 1, respectively by the Belgian, American and Italian governments.

Marshal of France
On August 6, 1918, Foch was made a marshal of France. In the interval the Germans had renewed their offensives four times, and more than once there had been a crisis as grave as that of March which Haig and Pétain had had to face, notably on May 27. But these crises had been surmounted, and towards the end of June, with his resources greatly augmented through the emergency measures taken by the American government, the British sea transport authorities and Gen. Pershing in France, he could begin preparations for his counter-offensive. From September 26 to the armistice the whole front from the sea to Verdun was one continuous battlefield, controlled by one commander-in-chief. An extension of this battlefield into Lorraine, where the final blow was to be delivered on November 14, was only prevented by the capitulation of the enemy.

Calm and Steadfast

Nominated to the supreme command in the hour of direst peril, Foch, unshaken, calm and steadfast, applied to that situation the doctrine he had preached at the French Staff College, and it was these same qualities that enabled him to seize the hour of victory when it offered four months later. In his book Foch quotes with approval the saying of Joseph Maistre: "A battle lost is a battle which the army believes to be lost, for a battle cannot be lost materially." Conversely, he writes: "A battle gained is a battle in which the army refuses to admit itself beaten." Foch goes on to say: "No victory can be won without a vigorous command, greedy of responsibilities and ready for bold enterprises, possessing and inspiring in all the energy and resolution to go to the very end."

Major-General Sir Neil Macleod has written thus: "How strange, too, that of the great names which will go down to history in connection with the campaign of 1918 two at least are those of men who had seen little or nothing of war before 1914.—Foch and Ludendorff. For more than forty years Foch had no experience of anything but peace soldiering; Ludendorff heard an enemy's rifles and saw his own men drop for the first time in his life near Vimé on August 4, 1914. Both had mastered every detail of their art, not in the open field but in the solitude of the study. Each in his own way was an artist, but of the two it was Foch who had the inspiration, 'the fire in his belly,' which is the sign of the true master."

Advance Rapid

But in this capacity his influence became really effective only after the accession to power of the Clemenceau ministry in November. From that point to the events of March, 1918, the evolution of Foch's authority was rapid. He was first, as advisor to Clemenceau and as a soldier whose counsel carried more weight than those of any other, a powerful indirect influence in the inter-allied discussions as to the plan of campaign for 1918. Then as French member of the "Executive Committee," a sort of board of inter-allied command placed in January, 1918, he took his place almost as de jure president of that body. Lastly, the storm of the German offensive broke on the British V. Army on March 21, and although Haig and Pétain managed by cordial co-operation to reconstruct the broken line and check the German advance, the situation remained so critical that the last step was taken. On March 27 by general consent Foch was nominated to co-ordinate the operations of the British and French in France. On April 14 the title and authority of commander-in-chief was granted to him by the two governments concerned, and on April 15, 17, and May 1, respectively by the Belgian, American and Italian governments.

Each in his own way was an artist, but of the two it was Foch who had the inspiration, 'the fire in his belly,' which is the sign of the true master."

Marne Attack

Speaking of Foch's counter-attack on the Marne of July, 1918, Sir Neil writes: "The surprise was complete and by nightfall the German flank was crushed and Von Boehn's principal line of communications was in Mangin's hands. But more than this had happened. For at one blow Foch had passed from the defensive to the offensive, and he seized the initiative, on a more comprehensive scale but in the form made classic by the great commanders of history. The initiative, once chosen, was never relinquished but was followed by a series of rapid and vigorous blows, beginning with a brilliant attack by the British fourth army south of the Somme on August 8. From that moment until 11 a. m. on November 11 the German army knew no rest, but was pushed from one position to another by the victorious forces of many nationalities, into all of which Foch had been able to instill something of his own personality and surprising vigor."

Touch of Artist
The time as well as the direction of the counter-stroke had been truly chosen, for, after acting on the offensive through four strenuous months the German infantry had exhausted its strength and moral defection and despondency had spread from the homeland to the armies in the field. It is Foch's eternal glory that he had had the moral daring to wait until this moment had come. So the great counter-stroke of 1918 had in it all the elements which had gone to make the success of exactly similar, if smaller, efforts in former campaigns. It was carefully prepared as an integral part of the general plan of campaign; it was directed against an adequate strategic objective; it came as a surprise; and it was correctly timed. Perfect in conception and execution, it met with its reward, but the curious thing is that it contained nothing new. What the world really saw on that July morning of 1918 was the touch of the artist who knew how to express old ideas in ### modern terms of war—for Foch was bigger than the tools he handled."

Similar to Haig

Haig and Foch had the common quality of tranquility of soul, that faced the blackest hour without despair. Poles apart as they were in temperament, they must have yet well understood the one the other. It becomes more and more clear that the Allied victory of 1918 was above all due to the genius of Foch. As Napoleon said, "With a great general no action is executed which is the fruit of chance or fortune; everything is the result of combination and talent."

Born in 1851

Ferdinand Foch was born at Tarbes, October 2, 1851, his father being a civil official and his mother's father an officer of Napoleon's army. Educated at the Lycée of St. Michel (Lairé) and St. Clement (Metz), he was preparing for the entrance examination for the École Polytechnique in November, 1871. On being commissioned in 1873 he was posted to the artillery, in which arm the whole of his regimental service was spent. As a captain he became a student of the Staff College (École de Guerre) in 1885, and left, with fourth place, in 1887. From this time until 1901, save for a period in which as major he commanded a group of horse artillery batteries, his work lay in the general staff of the army, the staff of formations and the École de Guerre. It was in the École de Guerre that he developed his doctrines and his influence on the education of the army. From 1895 he was assistant-professor, and from 1898, as lieutenant-colonel, professor of military history and strategy in that institution. First under Gen. Langlois and then under Gen. Brialmont, two leaders of military thought whose work, with his own to complete it, established the new French doctrine of war, based on re-study and application to modern conditions of Napoleon's practice. This is the key idea to Foch's classical treatises, Principes de Guerre and La Direction de la Guerre.

MARSHAL FOCH

The military genius which, probably more than any other, contributed to the success of the allied arms, is dead, and the whole civilized world will go in mourning for him.

Marshal Ferdinand Foch was more than a great military leader. To triumphantly direct the operations of the largest and best-equipped body of troops that was ever gathered together on earth requires more than mere technical skill. It requires personal qualities of a rare and commanding order.

Marshal Foch had those qualities. He had greatness of mind and greatness of spirit.

The lustre of his memory will persist a long time in a world where action is worshipped and success is demanded.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN AT MACLEOD HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Macleod Local Council of Women was held in the Parish Hall on Wednesday, March 20, the president, Miss Muir, in the chair. There was a good representation from the affiliated societies. Mrs. Armer read the report for 1928 for the W. A. of Christ church; Mrs. Forster Brown for the W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Farnset for the Women's Institute; Miss Muir for the Fortnightly Club.

Arrangements were made to hold a sale of home cooking in April to pay the fee of a corporate member of the League of Nations. The following officers were elected for 1929: President, Miss Muir; secretary, Mrs. Whipple; treasurer, Mrs. Farnset; vice-presidents, Mrs. Greenwood, Mrs. Armer, Mrs. Knight.

Mrs. Whipple, who was the delegate to the annual meeting of the National Council of Women, held in Toronto in June last, gave an interesting report of the seven days' session. She also gave a short account of the different social events which had been arranged for their entertainment, among them a reception at Government House.

A vote of thanks was passed to the W. A. of Christ church for their kindness in giving the Council the use of the parish hall for their meetings, also the Macleod Times for the free announcements of the meetings.

Mrs. O. C. Edwards' address was listened to with much interest. She spoke of the representative character of the meetings of the provincial executive of the National Council of Women, when representatives of the principal women's organizations of Alberta met to discuss subjects of interest to all Alberta women. A number of resolutions were passed at the November meeting and a delegation appointed to lay these resolutions before the Alberta government. The delegates were received by the premier and members of his cabinet on January 16. In her address Mrs. Edwards referred to the resolution on Canadian Nationality, which asked that the provincial government secure forms, which would have a column for those who had received the right in 1921, by an act of parliament, to call themselves Canadians, should be registered as such.

UNITED CHURCH AMATEURS GIVE SUCCESSFUL PLAY

One of the most successful plays presented in Macleod for many a long day was staged Thursday night of last week at the Empress theatre by a local cast of amateurs belonging to the United Church.

Roger Hunt, who took the leading role in the play, deserves the highest praise for the fine manner in which he presented the difficult role, for he was equal to all occasions and was quite at home. Taking the cast on the whole, there was not a weak spot in it, every member acquitting themselves as though they were appearing on the stage every night, and it was the first appearance for some of them.

The play was entitled "Wanted, a Wife." The cast of characters was as follows: Richard Wilkins, Roger Hunt; Jacob Flint, lawyer, Jack Griffin; Petunia, Esther and Vera, young ladies, Mrs. Geo. Scott, Mrs. J. E. McRae and Mrs. R. G. McLean; Grandma, Mrs. W. Whitworth; Jane, Miss H. Stewart; Father, Dr. Snodgrass; Mother, Mrs. Jas. Young; Marie and Mabel, daughters, Miss V. Kirk, Miss E. Telford; Jack, son, Miss O. Young; maid, Mrs. G. Scott.

Musical selections between acts were rendered by an augmented orchestra led by J. A. Edgar, which were very much enjoyed as was evidenced by the applause. The theatre was crowded to over capacity, not even standing room at the back.

Would there be less humor or more if there were fewer people who saw no humor in anything?

Enter the Big Eastman Contest Today

CALGARY PRESBYTERIAL W. M. S. APPOINTS DELEGATES TO PROVINCIAL MEETING

At the regular monthly meeting of the Calgary Presbyterian W. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which was held in Grace Church on Tuesday March 19th, the following delegates, Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. J. H. Jamieson, Mrs. W. Sanders, were elected to attend the Provincial meeting of the W. M. S. which is to be held in Edmonton on April 10 and 11. Miss Cockroft, who has been a Missionary in China for a number of years, and who is now returning to Manchuria, will be in Edmonton to take part in these meetings, at the conclusion of which she will visit Calgary and district in the interest of the Woman's Missionary Society. Further announcements concerning this will be made.

GARDEN HINTS

The First Vegetables

Radishes, spinach, lettuce, early peas, and onions are staple crops of the early gardener, and are the first fruits of his labor. The radish supply can be sown at one time now instead of the usual repetitions, with an extra early, early, mid-season and late variety, all going in together, but maturing in succession. The same varieties can be put in two weeks later and the work is done for the season. Head lettuce should be sowing in boxes or hotbeds by this time to be ready to transplant into permanent quarters as soon as it is safe to do so. Many gardeners refuse to bother with headless head lettuce any longer and have taken to the oak variety. This grows upright, with long leaves which enclose the heart, and it is self-blanching. A little tying up will hasten the process. The new spinaches, which will grow and grow without going to seed are a big advance over the old types. They give a bigger and better supply of leaves and some can be cut down to within an inch of the ground and will grow up again. These new varieties are called King of Denmark and New Zealand. White Portugal and any of the Globe varieties are now popular. Onions and can be easily grown from seed. These may be used green or for pickling. There are half a dozen good early peas and anyone of them will give satisfaction. All vegetables must be grown quickly if they are to be crisp when brought to the table. A check in growth makes them tough. To prevent such an occurrence, especially when the weather is inclined to be cool it is well to apply some quick-acting fertilizer such as nitrate of soda. This may be raked in between the rows at the rate of a scant handful to the square yard, or it may be dissolved in water, a tablespoonful to the gallon and applied with the ordinary watering can. Care must be used when applying dry that none of the fertilizer is allowed to rest on the leaves of the plants as it is liable to burn. If the hose is turned on immediately after the nitrate has been sprinkled over the garden or if the job is carried out just before a rain or during one, there will be no chance of any injury.

Useful Information

The gardener will find much useful and interesting information in one or two of the best seed catalogues which should be more popular are described with planting directions, while special chapters are devoted to hotbeds, cold frames, fertilizers, insects, diseases, irrigation, soils, and location. Roses must have good drainage and it is best to give some protection in the form of fences, shrubbery or buildings on the north side. They should, however, be planted two or three feet in front of these wind breaks.

GREEN O' THE SPRING

Sure, after all the winter, An' after all the snow, 'Tis fine to see the sunshine, 'Tis fine to feel its glow; 'Tis fine to see the buds break On boughs that bare have been— But best of all to Irish eyes 'Tis grand to see the green! Sure, after all the winter, An' after all the snow, 'Tis fine to hear the brooks sing As on their way they go; 'Tis fine to hear at mornin', The voice of robin, But best of all to Irish eyes 'Tis grand to see the green! Sure, here in grim New England The spring is always slow, An' every bit o' green grass Is kilt wid frost and snow; Ah, many a heart is weary The winter days, I woen But oh, the joy when springtime comes An' brings the blessed green! —Denise A. McCarthy, in "Voices from Erin."

breaks so that they will get full sun. Plant hybrid perennials three feet apart and hybrid teas two. The roots should be spread out when planting and the earth firmed well about the stocks. The point at which the roses are budded (union of stock and scion) should be buried two inches below the surface of the soil. They should be in their permanent position as soon as possible which will mean digging the soil eighteen inches deep, working in humus and well-rotted manure, preferably cow manure just as soon as one can get on the land without the shoes getting muddy.

Asparagus is easy to grow and once established furnishes a supply of delicious vegetable which is worth real money when one goes out to buy it. For a small bed, it is best to buy two-year old roots, but in the average-sized garden the most economical way is to start the plantation from seed. The Washington variety is generally considered the best. A bed may be established in three years from seed and in two from roots. The seed should be soaked in warm water for twenty-four hours before planting and sown in drills outside as soon as the ground can be worked as it is rather slow to germinate. The plants should be allowed to grow in the seed row for a season, and the following season the strongest and straightest shoots should be selected to form the bed. The plants should be spaced two feet apart in rows four feet apart, or three feet each way.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING OF STAND OFF WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Stand Off Women's Institute held their regular monthly meeting on March 14th at the home of Mrs. Albert Hutton, when as usual a large number of members were in attendance.

The chief item of business brought up for discussion was the lack of accommodation for country women in town as the Rest Room needed alteration and proper caretaking. A committee was appointed to wait on the mayor and councillors to see if anything could be done. The committee on March 16th met the mayor and some of the councillors, who were very kind and courteous and received the propositions with approval and said they would immediately proceed with the various changes necessary. The committee promised to assist in helping to provide for the expense of the alterations and for providing a caretaker to keep the rooms clean and sanitary.

It being the anniversary month of the Institute, the ladies commemorated it by having a social time with a bazaar. Each member providing an article, the cost not to exceed $1.00. There were many beautiful pieces of hand-work, and one of the members, Mrs. Van Weiden, made an excellent auctioneer and much mirth and fun was caused as the articles were sold, she being an adept at the business of auctioneering. The sale realized $32.00. After the business was concluded a delightful lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Hall and Miss Long.

Pearce News

The Annual Meeting of the Spring Point Baseball Team was held last Tuesday evening at Bratton's home. Mr. R. McKinley retired as manager and Mr. E. Reardon was chosen as his successor. It was decided to move the diamond to a more level ground up five miles. They intend to give a dance in the School House in the near future. After the meeting a sumptuous repast was served by the Bratton boys and everyone did full justice. Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Jackman and little daughters were visitors to Carmangay over the week-end. Quite a few have started plowing and it looks like spring when you see a Crow.

OBITUARY

DEATH OF GEORGE BUTTERS

The death of George Butters occurred on Saturday morning, March 23rd, at Macleod. The remains of the late George Butters, farmer, who died in Macleod on Saturday morning, were shipped East on Saturday night to Hamilton, Ontario, his native city, for interment in the family burying ground. His brother, David, who arrived in Macleod about two weeks ago, accompanied the remains. The late Mr. Butters was a bachelor and had reached the age of 64 years. He was a successful farmer south of Macleod for about 10 or 12 years, until ill health compelled him to quit the farm, and he retired to Macleod where he acquired a nice property on 21st Street. He was of a very quiet and unassuming disposition, and was highly respected by a large circle of acquaintances, especially by his neighbouring farmers.

DEATH OF J. B. KLINE

John B. Kline died at Macleod Hospital on Wednesday, March 20th. The deceased was afflicted with cancer of the stomach, the disease culminating in his death. The remains were sent to Colton, Washington State, the deceased's former home, where interment was made. J. B. Kline was born in Starratt County, Wisconsin, in 1865, later removing with his parents (Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kline) to Colton, Washington. He came to Macleod district in 1924, settling near his brother, E. H. Nathe, at Evelme, where he had since engaged in farming operations. The deceased is mourned by his wife; one son, F. Kline, living at Colton, Wash.; one daughter, Mrs. J. Ranch, of Spokane, a brother, E. H. Nathe, Evelme; and three sisters—Mrs. Miller, of Oakland, California; Mrs. F. Harris, Lewis, Idaho, and Mrs. Wallace, of Rubens, Idaho.

BOARD OF TRADE WOULD PROVIDE AIRWAYS LANDING FIELD

At the regular meeting of Macleod and District Board of Trade, held in the Rest Room on Monday evening, March 25th after the usual routine was finished, several matters of importance to the town were discussed.

It was decided that all companies with branches in Macleod should be specially written inviting them to become members of the Macleod Board of Trade.

The Board endorsed the action of Mayor McDonald, who has written the proper officials of the C. P. R. offering them as much land as they may require here for yards, etc., in the event of the Crow's Nest Pass becoming an important route to the coast.

Much discussion took place in connection with the matter of fees, and it was again decided that the fee for business houses for 1929 is to be $5.00 and individuals $2.00, to include cards. In view of the fact that the Board was handicapped last year through lack of funds it was felt that all business men would support it again this year by giving the extra fee. Every board of trade in Western Canada is increasing their fees. There is no doubt that good work is being accomplished by the Board here in Macleod, so it is hoped that all business men in town will affiliate.

Messrs. A. Young and R. V. Grier have the matter of a local airport in hand, with a view to providing a landing field here if the proposed air route through the Crow's Nest Pass is instituted.

The matter of safety first devices and general protection for the children in Macleod was discussed, as it is recognized that tourists passing through, as well as local traffic, provides danger in this connection.

POTATO SEED TREATMENT QUESTIONS ANSWERED

In preparing for the spring activities in connection with treatment of seed potatoes, it is well to review some of the questions which were unanswered in the rush of affairs last year, leaving doubt and confusion as to the method used and its effectiveness. Authorities agree that seed treatment is beneficial and while this operation is occasionally overlooked, the satisfactory experience of a few in so doing must not be accepted as a guide to the majority. It is advisable, therefore, to treat your seed potatoes.

In treating seed potatoes we have any one of three chemicals from which to select for this purpose, namely, hot formalin, organic mercury compounds, and corrosive sublimate. The first named gives excellent satisfaction, when used at the rate of 1 pint of commercial formalin to 12½ gallons of water. The tubers are dipped in this solution for two minutes when the temperature is held at 118-124 degrees F. This is a convenient method where large quantities of potatoes are to be treated. An accurate dairy thermometer is essential. It is often convenient to haul the potatoes to a nearby creamery where steam is available to keep the temperature even.

Organic mercury compounds have much to recommend them as seed potato disinfectants. They are being improved each year and it is expected that their use will render seed treatment less troublesome.

The corrosive sublimate method consists in soaking the seed potatoes 1½ hours in a solution composed of 4 ounces of corrosive sublimate in 25 gallons of water. One-half an ounce of the chemical is added after each treatment of 1½ hours. Investigations extending over a period of four years at the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Charlottetown, have demonstrated that the solution is ineffective after the third soak. The extra half ounce added after this period is wasted and would be profitably used in preparing a new solution. Furthermore, it has been learned that the strength of the solution weakens rapidly in the presence of broken tubers and potato juice. Therefore, this source of trouble is to be avoided if success is expected. General precautions include the following: (1) Dissolve the corrosive sublimate in not less than one gallon of very hot water. (2) Treat only tubers free from dirt. Throwing water on the pile will help to avoid this difficulty. (3) Use two clean casks alternately. Plugs made of long sticks make it easy to drain the casks after each treatment. (4) Prepare new solutions after three treatments. (5) Do not treat in basins. (6) Use soft water is possible. Hard water weakens the solution. (7) Put treated seed in a clean place to dry quickly. Do not leave them in the basement. (8) If the weather does not permit rapid drying throw several pails of water on the treated tubers.

Children don't get ornery because they are petted too much, but because they are loved too little.

POLITICIAN OR STATESMAN?

President Herbert Hoover of United States has called an extra session of Congress to make changes in the tariff.

What President Hoover asks of Congress will stamp him either as a politician subservient to the pig-headed high-tariff fetiches of Republican party leaders, or as a Statesman devoted to the economic welfare of humanity, according to the broad promises laid down in his South American speeches.

American farmers ask for a 100 percent increase in the tariff on cattle. They ask for a 250 percent increase in the tariff on meats.

If Herbert Hoover is going to be a politician and for political advantage build another layer on the tariff wall against Canadian products, the Parliament of Canada will undoubtedly take up his challenge and impose relative tariffs against American goods.

What, for instance, would be the effect on American farmers if American farm implement manu-

What will be the effect on American business if Canada's purchases from United States of nearly a billion dollars a year were drastically curtailed by increased Canadian tariffs? What will be the effect on American business if Canada's purchasing power is seriously impaired by American tariffs that cause industrial depression in this country? ## Seed Time Again

As in the past, we shall be headquarters in Macleod for seeds this season. More farmers every year are growing their own seed requirements from small fields of registered seed. Try a plot of registered wheat of some good variety this spring and note the returns.

For a permanent pasture try a mixture of Brome and Yellow Blossom Sweet Clover with Oats as a nurse crop. For a temporary pasture to be broken up again in a couple of years use Western Rye Grass instead of the Brome. For a green manure crop to be plowed down next year as summer fallow sow 8 or 10 lbs. of White Blossom Sweet Clover seed with your wheat this year.

While we have in stock right now over 4 tons of Sweet Clover seed we like to have a few days' notice of your requirements in other seeds, many of which we may be temporarily out of. We can usually save you all the freight on such orders.

We try to have fresh supplies of bacteria culture for Sweet Clover and Alfalfa seed on hand at all times during the season.

Let us have your orders.

Percy Longley returned to Macleod on Saturday from a three months holiday to the Old Country, where he visited his home in London, England. Percy says he had a most enjoyable holiday, renewing old acquaintances in a number of towns and cities in the south of England. The return journey was marked by some excitement, the ship, the C. P. R. Melita, when dodging ice grounded on a sandbank not far off Hamburg. The damage to the steamer was found to be more serious than at first anticipated, and the passengers were returned to Southampton where a special train was chartered, and they were taken to Glasgow where they boarded the Montrose, another C. P. R. vessel, which brought them to Canada. The incident caused delay for a few days, but the passengers had the privilege of seeing a part of the country which they would not otherwise have seen. Everything was done for the comfort of the passengers, they left the train at Carlisle and had breakfast and again at Kilmarnock for dinner, but unfortunately it was

Sunday when they stopped off at Kilmarnock.

APRIL ROD AND GUN

Vivid pictures of life in the Canadian outdoors are contained in several splendid articles in the April issue of the national sporting magazine, Rod and Gun and Canadian Silver Fox News. Among these is a robust story of the experiences of a trapper-guide in British Columbia under the caption "Life on the Frontier" by Frank D. Kibbee. Another entertaining story of actual experience on the trails of far northern Ontario is contributed by Robert James.

In addition to such fine stories, the contents include the usual special articles on shooting and fishing subjects by Bonnyville Dale, C. S. Landis, W. C. Motley, G. P. Sladen, J. W. Winson and others. The Canadian Silver Fox News department is full of unusually interesting and authoritative articles on this great industry.

Rod and Gun and Canadian Silver Fox News is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont.
